Books play an important part in people's life. Do you know the name of William Caxton? Yes, of course. He was an Englishman who made the first English printed book in 1474. Many books have been printed in Britain since those days. We know the names of many English writers. Children are interested in reading books. Many authors have written stories for children. Many of these stories bring back to life the old fables, folk-tales are called fairy-tales. British children love fairies living in a wonderful place called fairy-land. Modern fairy stories often imitate the old folk-tale, which explains their atmosphere of princesses and horse-drawn carriages. You know that imagination is the main quality of a children's story. Several famous children's stories are written in the form of a wonderful dream, like Lewis Carol's "Alice in Wonderland". The characters of the books are usually animals or toys, as in A. Milne's "Winnie-the-Pooh", or objects, like railway engines and lorries, which talk like living people. On the other hand, many stories are based on ordinary events in the life of an ordinary child. School stories about adventures in a boarding school are great favourites with older children.
